

Explanation For:

Explain how multiple dimensions work.

Configuration Used:

Metaphor: what the fuck

Style: capybaras

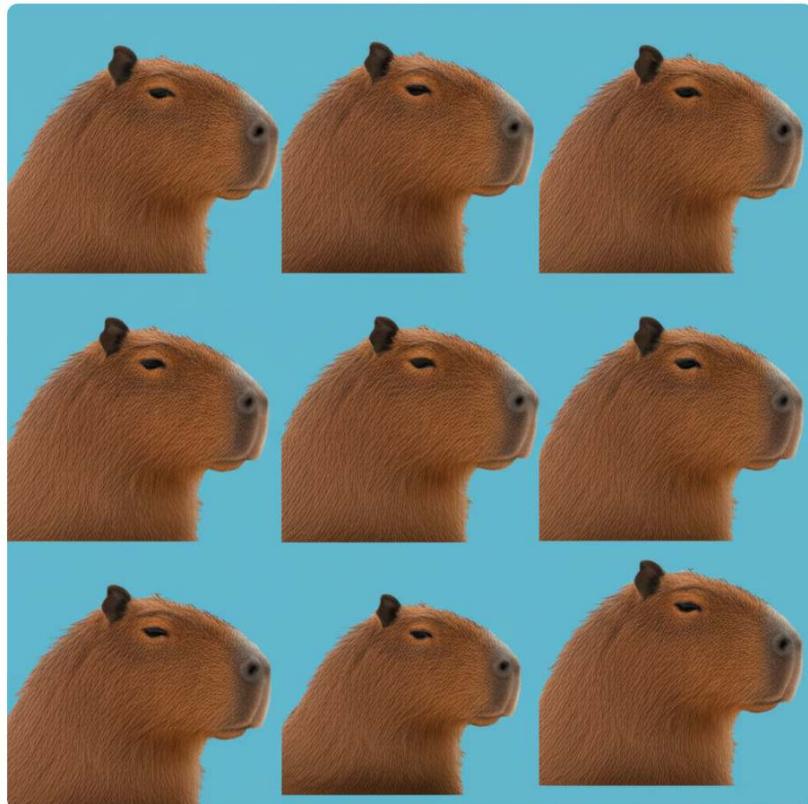

Depth: Detailed

what the fuck is one thing, right?

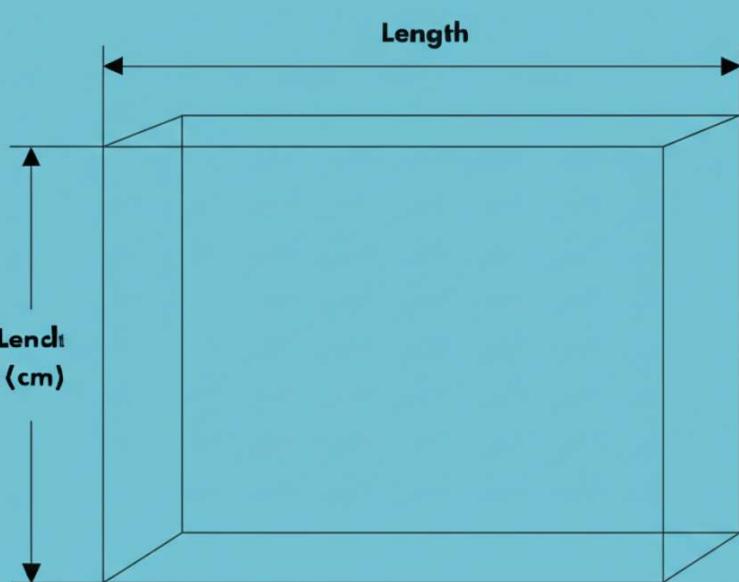

Imagine many "what the fucks."

Each "what the fuck" can be its own little world.

our normal world is like one "what the fuck."

It has length, width, and height, right?

That's three dimensions for one "what the fuck."

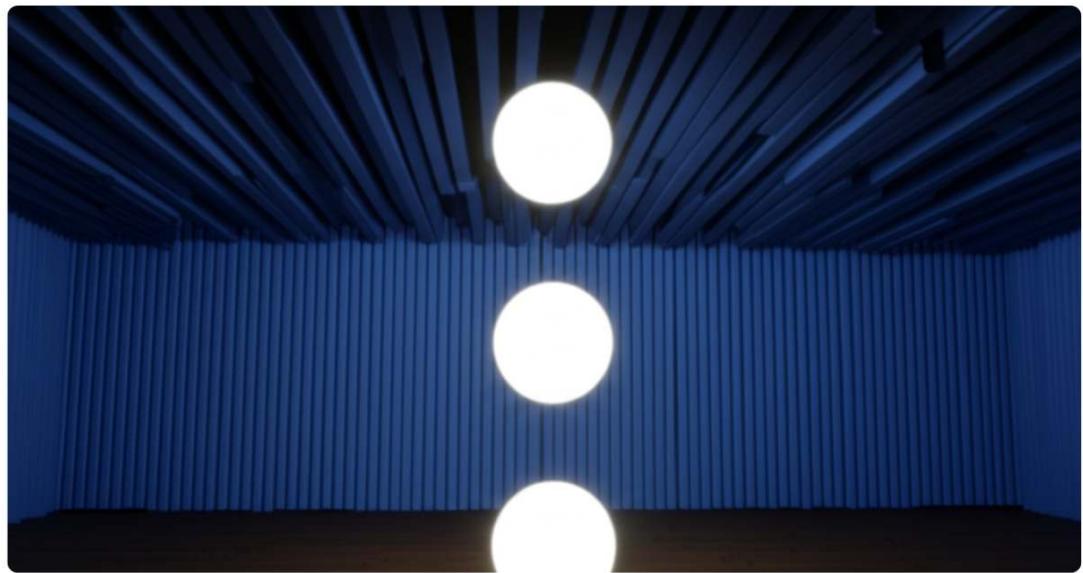

Now, stack a bunch of these "what the fucks" together.

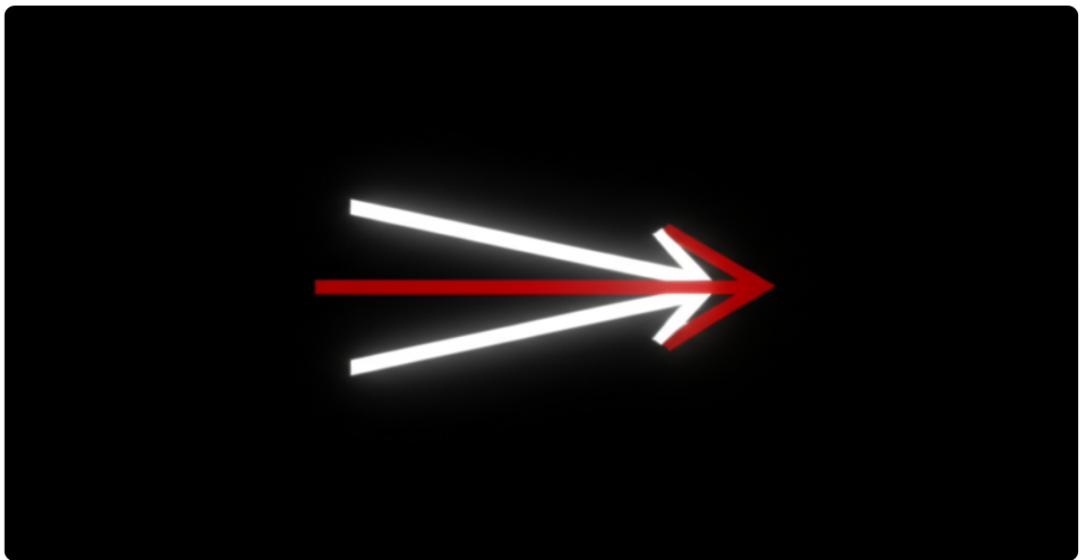

Each stack is a different version of "what the fuck."

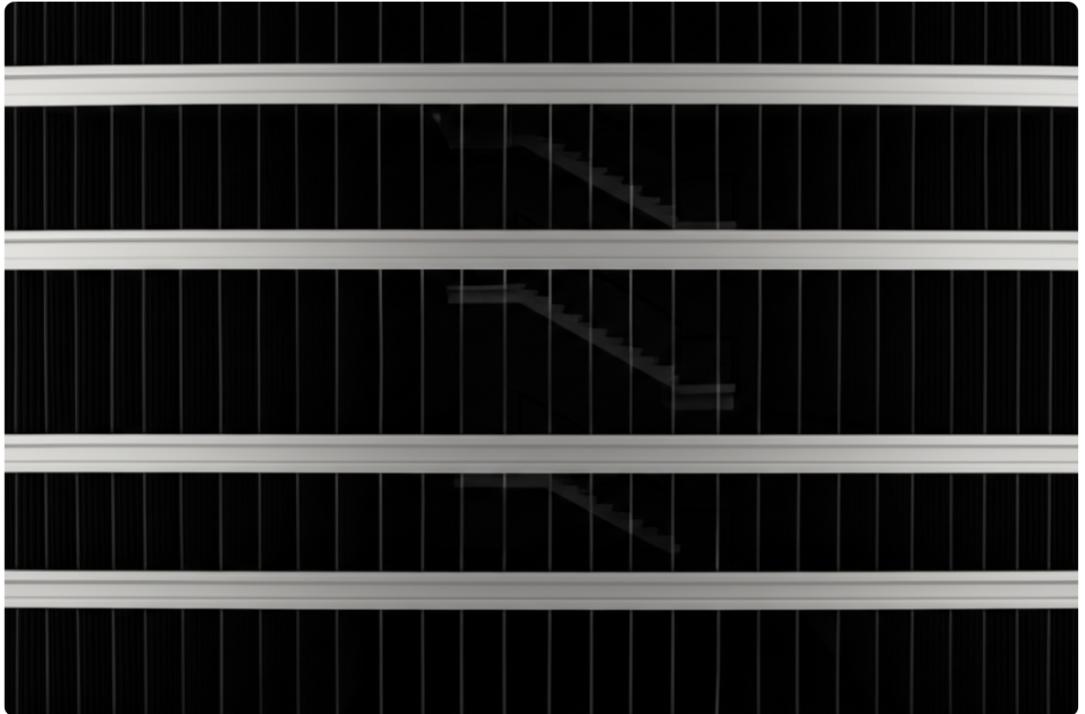

These stacks exist... somewhere else.

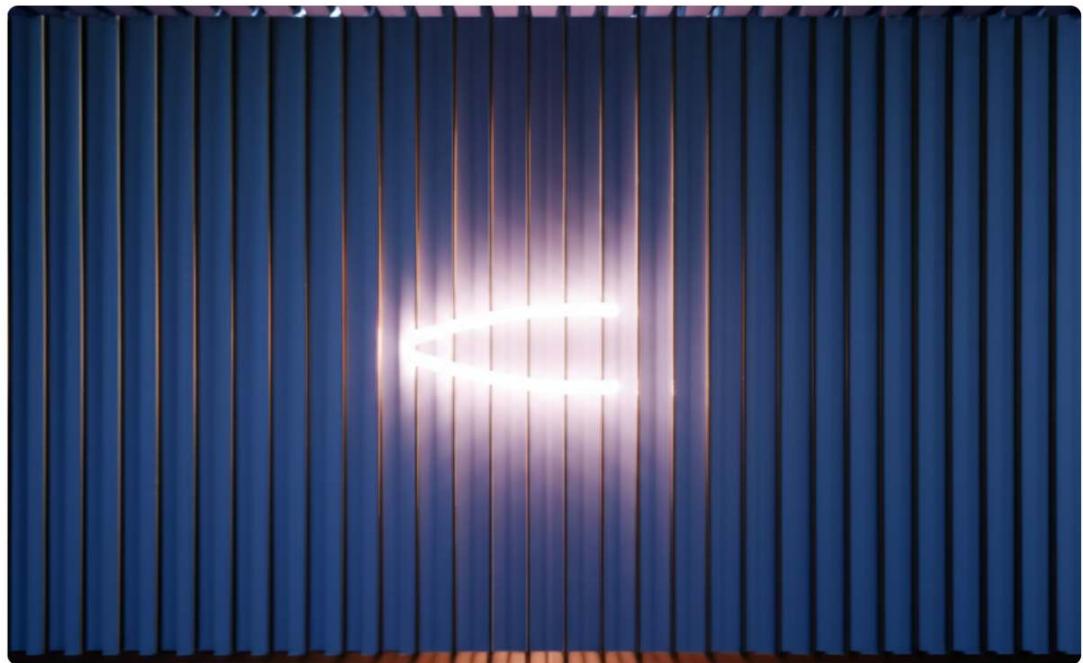

That "somewhere else" is another dimension.

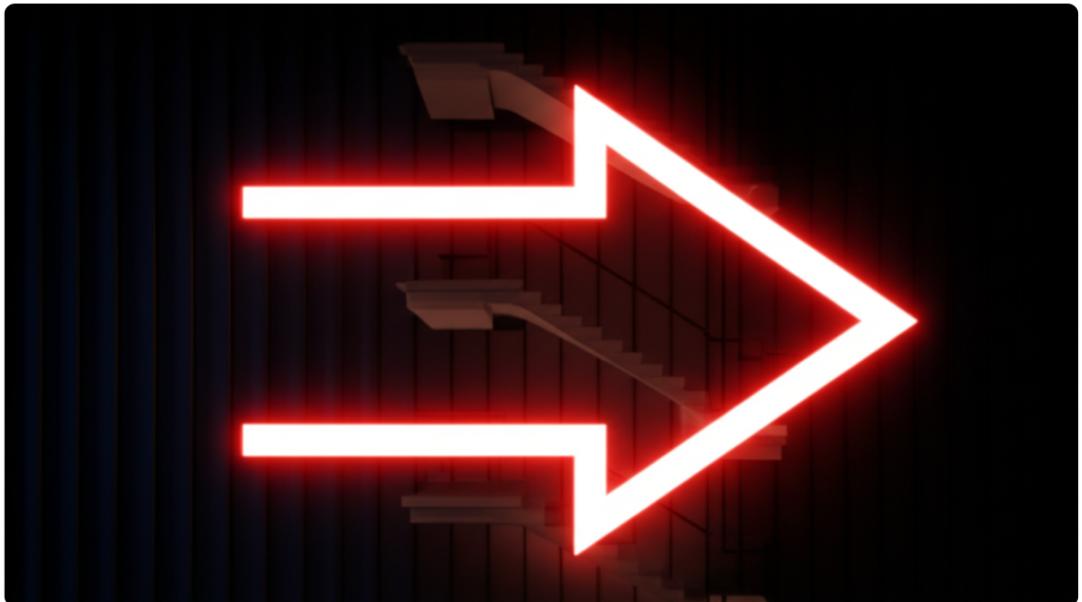

It's a direction we can't normally see or go.

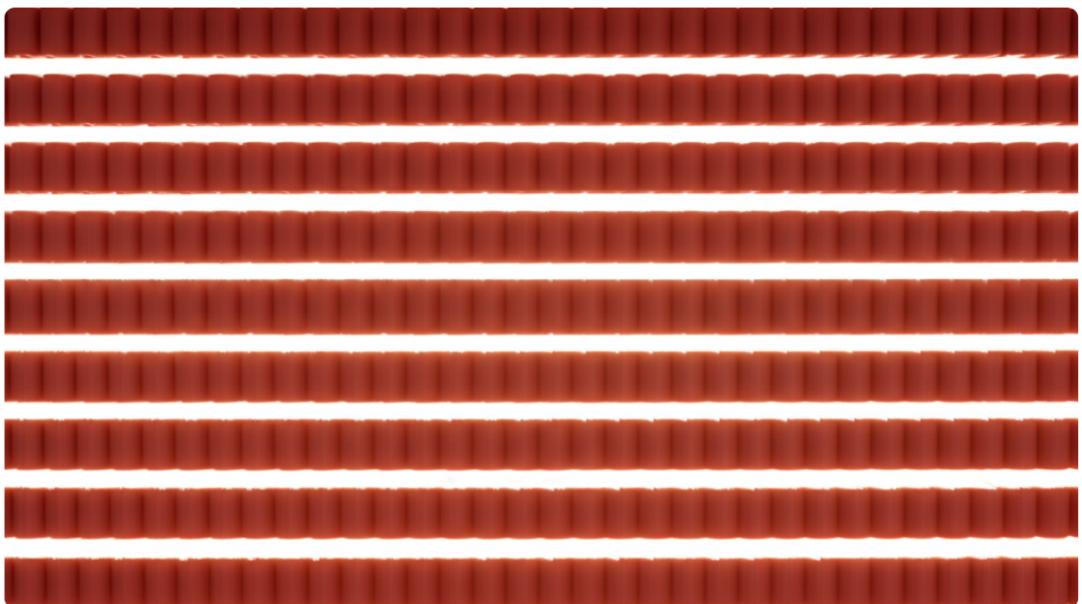

Think of it like floors in a building.

Each floor is a slightly different "what the fuck."

we can move between these floors (dimensions).

Maybe there are infinite "what the fucks" stacked up.

Each one a slightly different reality.